

UNA CAMDZIC

ER/HR Specialist, Facilitator

Conscientious, Supportive, People focused

Background

Una has extensive experience as an HR/ER practitioner, having worked across a diverse range of sectors including not for profit, state government, disability services and education.

As a Senior Workplace Relations Consultant with the Department of Health and Human Services, Una was responsible for advising on complex employee relations matters that arose including serious misconduct, unsatisfactory performance and workplace bullying. Una is therefore well versed in navigating the various complexities of Award and Enterprise Agreement compliance.

In her role as a Senior People and Culture Adviser with Life Without Barriers, Una coached and partnered with managers on employee and industrial relations matters, workforce planning as well as providing training on respectful workplaces, communication and team building.

Una has a passion for building strong partnerships and delivering quality outcomes for stakeholders. Una takes a considered approach, with integrity and responsiveness at the core of her values.

Qualifications

Una holds a Masters in Human Resource Management from Monash University and a Bachelor of Commerce (Human Resource Management and Business Law) from the University of Wollongong.

Una is a member of the Australian Human Resources Institute (AHRI).

Areas of expertise

- Workplace investigations
- Employee relations
- Performance management
- Training design and delivery
- Coaching and facilitation

